PRESENTERS:

ANN FOWLER

Director of Fowler Wound Consultancy
(RN, CNC, Master of Wound Management – Monash)

Dr Hilton Beck

MBBCh FRACGP M Med (Skin Cancer).

Dr Beck trained in Johannesburg. He has significant experience in Orthopaedics and Trauma, both in South Africa and the UK, emergency medicine in Australia and then General Practice. He then decided on sub specialising in skin cancer medicine which has been his focus for the past 20 years. Dr Beck has a strong interest in wound management and is passionate about an holistic approach to this complex health issue.

ABOUT THE DAY:

The workshop is designed for all clinicians involved in wound care, nursing, medical, pharmacy and Allied Health.

The day will commence with a brief revision of the physiology of wound healing and then onto an interactive program which encourages a collaborative and integrative approach to wound education and management. There will be a strong focus on assessment, planning and the 'Wound Journey'.

A focused update on Wound Bed Preparation, exploring advances in wound infection, assessment, management, debridement and how we can translate this into our everyday practice.

In addition, Dr Hilton Beck will present on the importance of the GP and medical role in Wound Management, bringing great practical advice, knowledge, and experience, having worked in skin cancer medicine and wound care in the Mid North coast for over 20 years. Emphasising the importance of a truly 'collaborative' model in wound management for the patient with a chronic wound and exploring ways we can improve on our current models of care.
