

Cervical screening training for midwives

Are you a midwife working near Byron Bay, NSW?

Want to enhance your confidence in cervical screening?

In partnership with Cancer Institute NSW, Family Planning Australia is pleased to offer cervical screening training for 200 midwives across New South Wales.

This blended training allows you to study online before joining a live webinar and a face-to-face workshop to practice your skillset.

Your training includes:

- Speculum insertion with live practice clients
- Cervical screening with realistic pelvic models
- History taking skills with medical roleplay
- Online learning covering cervical cancer and HPV
- Face-to-face teaching with experienced clinicians
- Updates on the National Cervical Screening Guidelines with self-collection

Byron Bay workshops now open

Register for key dates

click here to register

This training is equivalent to 8 hours to meet the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia requirements for CPD.

This project is funded by Cancer Institute NSW.

Cancer Institute NSW

